

JOJOBA SEED OIL

SIMMONDSIA CHINENSIS

Country of Origin: Argentina
Cold Pressed from Seeds

Jojoba Seed Oil (Simmondsia chinensis) is a cold-pressed oil expressed from the seeds of the jojoba plant. Naturally compatible with the skin, it closely resembles the skin's own surface oils and is valued for helping maintain balance rather than overwhelm it. It supports moisture retention and barrier stability while remaining lightweight and non-greasy. Jojoba oil helps promote smooth, calm, resilient-looking skin across a range of skin types.

FUNCTIONAL CONSTITUENTS

Eicosenoic Acid A key fatty acid in Jojoba Seed Oil (Simmondsia chinensis), eicosenoic acid contributes to the oil's stability and skin-conditioning properties. It supports softness, smooth texture, and overall skin balance, helping maintain a healthy surface environment without heaviness.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR VS. WHAT TO AVOID

These signs reflect proper sourcing and pressing:

- Cold-pressed extraction*
- Clear to golden color*
- Mild, neutral scent*
- Smooth, lightweight texture*
- Unrefined and undeodorized*
- Naturally stable profile*

- Thin, overly diluted texture*
- Bulk-aged inventory*

HOW WE SOURCE

Our Jojoba Seed Oil is cold-pressed from mature seeds grown in arid regions where the plant naturally thrives. The seeds are mechanically pressed without heat or solvents to preserve the oil's stability and natural character. Careful handling during extraction and storage protects its structure from excess heat, light, and oxidation.

OUR BLACK SEED OIL IS:

- ✓ Cold-pressed from mature seeds
- ✓ Unrefined and undeodorized
- ✓ Naturally stable and oxidation-resistant
- ✓ Free from solvents and chemical processing
- ✓ Handled in small batches

Jojoba oil is prized for its natural stability and balanced composition. We do not refine it for cosmetic uniformity or alter its structure. Its clarity, smooth texture, and mild scent reflect careful pressing from properly matured seeds.

WHAT IT SUPPORTS

- Balanced surface oil production*
- Skin barrier stability and comfort*
- Smooth texture and softness*
- Calm appearance for reactive skin*
- Overall skin harmony and resilience*

Why Jojoba Is Valued For Stability

Jojoba oil is often positioned as a blending base for essential oils or cosmetic formulations. While it performs well in that role, its natural composition allows it to stand on its own.

1. Naturally Resistant to Rancidity

Compared to more delicate oils, jojoba holds its integrity longer without heavy processing.

2. Minimal Processing Preserves Structure

Excessive refining may improve uniformity, but can reduce the oil's natural balance.

3. Clarity Is a Quality Signal

True jojoba oil is clear to golden and mild in scent. Cloudiness, strong odor, or discoloration may indicate degradation.

4. Simple Is Intentional

Jojoba does not require fortification or enhancement to perform well. Its strength lies in its inherent balance.

JOJOBA OIL IN THE STILLROOM

Jojoba oil has long been kept in the stillroom as a steadying oil - one chosen not for intensity, but for balance. Pressed from the seed, it is valued for how closely it aligns with the skin's own surface oils.

In daily care, it is used when the skin feels unsettled - too dry, too oily, or reactive to change. Jojoba is selected for its ability to bring the skin back toward equilibrium without heaviness or excess.

CAUTIONS

Safety Group 1: Generally regarded as safe when used as directed with children and while pregnant or nursing. Keep out of reach of children. Use with care if you have sensitive skin or known plant allergies. Discontinue use if irritation occurs. If you have a medical condition or specific skin concern, consult a qualified healthcare professional before use.
